

Training, Coaching & Consulting

Let's face it: the process of developing meaningful, impactful Kingdom connections is hard. You want more than an emotional mission trip experience, but you are not sure how to get it.

Del Camino Connection (DCC) understands that ongoing coaching and assessment is often necessary to intentionally grow a community of faith towards a Kingdom aligned mission strategy. We can help you move your cross-cultural relational connections forward in a positive life, giving direction through training, consulting and coaching that is uniquely tailored for the specific place you are at on the journey.

TRAINING MATERIALS:

DCC has training materials that will guide and strengthen your ongoing cross-cultural connections. Here are just a few examples of the trainings we offer?

- "Just Relationships" A workshop that walks participants through the most important aspects important to the partnership process. Participants will walk through studies on "Missio Dei: Theology Along the Way", "Kingdom of God vs. The kingdom of this world", and examine guidelines for "just" relationships and cross-cultural relationship building.
- "Kingdom Connections & Power" A workshop about the role of power in cross-cultural relationships. We will help prepare discovery/serving teams to understand the intricacies involved in cross-cultural relationship building, possible roadblocks, and how to overcome those obstacles in healthy ways.
- "Serving in Diversity" A workshop for discovery/serving teams as they step into the ongoing cross-cultural connection between partner churches. This training will raise awareness of the need to re-frame "missions" as relational partnerships from a Kingdom perspective.

COACHING:

DCC can coach your church staff or facilitators of short-term teams about the process of developing and strengthening ongoing relational connections. We can also troubleshoot specific situations and relational challenges that are likely to surface during cross-cultural exchanges.

CONSULTING:

Your church can retain DCC for ongoing consultation, coaching, and training on a yearly basis. We offer consulting about your ongoing partnerships in the following areas: Church communications, program alignment with a Kingdom framework, relational connections, projects and healthy communications, and conflict resolution.
